Committee Members made the following recommendations:

- Form two subcommittees: one for partnerships and one for messaging/branding.
- Prepare local businesses (restaurants, hotels, transportation, etc.) for increased tourism associated with upcoming 2026 events.
- Develop unified communications for the city, including a dedicated website, consistent messaging, and coordinated social media.
- Create marketing materials such as a short promotional video, city-approved logos, visitor maps, and QR-code tools linking to attractions and services.
- Highlight the city's lesser-known assets (wineries, golf, shopping, outdoor spaces) in addition to its technology identity.

- Provide visitor guidance including lodging options, travel info, attractions, and activity suggestions.
- Explore event activations (e.g., themed gatherings, tastings, fairs, community events) that do not require broadcast rights.
- Coordinate transportation solutions such as shuttles or partnerships to reduce the need for rental cars.
- Establish clear goals and KPIs (e.g., sales tax changes, lodging tax, hotel occupancy, traffic counts, media impressions, website analytics).
- Allocate budget for marketing, SEO (Search Engine Optimization), and related materials and services.
- Leverage regional event-host networks and partnerships for broader exposure.
- Revisit the subcommittee proposal and budget discussion as a formal agenda item at the next meeting.

MOTION: Kosolcharoen moved and Kaing seconded to create a subcommittee to discuss 1. Partnerships 2. Messaging, positioning, and branding.

3. Subject: Brainstorming session on the 2026 Economic Development Committee (EDC) Work Plan Projects

Recommended Action: Brainstorming Session on the 2026 EDC Work Plan Projects

Economic Development Manager Daniel Degu gave a presentation.

Committee Members made the following recommendations:

- Tourism should be a major focus for 2026 due to upcoming large events; however, foundational work such as business outreach, regulatory improvements, and data collection remains equally important.
- Update surveys to better understand issues related to permitting, zoning, vehicular circulation, and leasing cost.
- Suggestions included reviewing zoning definitions that limit synergistic uses (e.g., gyms, childcare), improving communication around business licenses, and exploring successful strategies from nearby cities such as pop-up events and business districts.
- Business owners reported that although rents are higher, Cupertino generates significantly stronger revenue, and these success stories could help attract new businesses.
- Members noted that Cupertino lacks entertainment options for younger residents and that expanding social and recreational amenities could strengthen the business environment.

- Staff clarified that the work plan does not need to be finalized now; discussion will continue in December with formal adoption expected in early 2026.
