A Message from the City Manager

Hello Neighbors,

Cupertino continues to see exciting momentum across our local economy. From new businesses opening their doors to major projects moving forward, our City's economic vitality remains strong.

The City is also preparing to convene the first meeting of the new Economic Development Committee (EDC), which will bring together community and business leaders to help guide Cupertino's economic future. For updates, visit cupertino.gov/edc. See details for next week's EDC meeting in this edition of the newsletter.

As we reflect on the City's 70th anniversary, I want to thank our residents, businesses, and community partners for making Cupertino a vibrant and thriving place to live, work, and visit. October's Cupertino Community Service Awards and Restaurant Week were wonderful opportunities to recognize our City Commissioners and Committee Members, celebrate our CREST Award winners, and honor 70 years of Cupertino history.

As we begin to enter the holiday season, let's celebrate by supporting the local shops and restaurants that bring community to Cupertino. Read the full City Manager's Newsletter November 12, 2025 and all previous editions at cupertino.gov/cmnewsletter.

Warm Regards,

Tina Kapoor, Interim City Manager
