2. Cupertino Active Transportation Plan (Schroeder)

MOTION: Vice Chair Eschelbeck moved, seconded by Commissioner Madhhipatla to recommend to the staff and the consultants to incorporate the following feedback into the Active Transportation Plan (ATP):

- Use data from past projects to provide input toward ATP
- Broaden public outreach
- Use existing data, and every new project should facilitate data collection
- Incorporate vision zero input
- Incorporate different profiles of users as part of data collection
- Incorporate low cost and high priority projects such as quick build projects
- Significant focus on non-infrastructure projects
- Focus on pedestrian projects
- Study mixed devices such as scooters, various types of transportation while making recommendations
- Maintenance, including existing and new infrastructure
- Study why other cities are removing separated bike lanes or changing their original plans
- Ensure robust outreach during the draft phase
- Reduce congestion by encouraging cycling and walking, as opposed to using single-rider vehicles (the plan should reduce greenhouse gas emissions)
