OLD BUSINESS

2. Subject: Poet Laureate Playbook

Recommended Action: Discuss and provide feedback on updates for the Poet Laureate Playbook budget and qualifications section.

Molly James, Recreation Manager, introduced the item and informed the Commissioners that the discussion will focus on the budget and qualifications (more specifically, the person's background and experience).

The Commissioners provided feedback on the Budget:

- Commissioner Pan noted that the Playbook states: A contributing factor for the need for a budget plan was the increasing awareness from the Poets Laureate that if they were not getting compensated for this honorary position, a stipend should be considered. The 2016-17 Poet Laureate, Amanda Williamsen, received a $250 stipend in the form of a check from the Cupertino Library Foundation (CLF) at their January 2016 Board meeting during which she gave a poetry reading. The same will occur in January 2017. Commented that since it is in the current Playbook, it should be happening.
- Recreation Manager James provided some background information on the budget. Noted that the Library Commission and Poet Laureate program has been in different City departments over the years, and there isn't a lot of historical information provided. Starting in Fiscal Year 2013, the City has been contributing $2,000 to the Poet Laureate program.
- Commissioner Pan noted that the Cupertino Library Foundation (CLF) does have funding set aside (estimated $500 to $1,000) for the Poet Laureate to help sponsor the program, but it is up to the Poet Laureate on how they would like to spend the funds.
- Cupertino Community Librarian, Bryant Bao, clarified that CLF has funding set aside for requests, and The Friends of the Cupertino Library doesn't have a specific budget due to the pandemic, but funds can also be requested. Added that he can help facilitate the request of funds from both CLF and The Friends of the Cupertino Library.
- Commissioner Pan supported the Poet Laureate receiving a stipend as a form of appreciation and recommended that Community Librarian Bao assist in the stipend request from CLF moving forward. Added that it needs to be clearer in the playbook.
- Commissioner Pan requested clarification on whether City funds can be used towards a stipend or not. Recreation Manager James clarified that City funds can be used towards programming.
- Chair Zhao recommended updating the funding to match what is in the budget.
- Commissioner Chokshi recommended separating out the stipend, so it is more called out in the playbook.
- Commissioner Pan recommended removing the reference of 2016-17 Poet Laureate stipend, increase the stipend amount to $500 potentially, and add a possible budget consideration note just in case.
- Chair Zhao, Commissioner Pan, Commissioner Sreekanth, and Commissioner Chokshi recommended a $500 stipend on an annual basis.
- Community Librarian Bao clarified that he would propose and request an ongoing annual $500 stipend at the next CLF meeting, and any funding requested from The Friends of Cupertino Library will be for the Poet Laureate events.
- Commissioner Chokshi requested clarification on the funds available from The Friends of the Cupertino Library. Community Librarian Bao clarified that there isn't an operating budget, it is more on a request basis.

The Commissioners provided feedback on Qualifications:

- Commissioner Chokshi recommended potentially changing the requirement that the Poet Laureate must be published given the minimum age requirement.
- Cupertino Poet Laureate (CPL), Keiko O'Leary, commented that it is easier to have a poem published somewhere, whether it is in a journal or online, rather than an entire book.
- Commissioner Sreekanth added that published could even mean a school publication for students.
- Commissioner Chokshi recommended that published could also mean participation in the Reflections Competition.
- Commissioner Pan commented that the Expectations of the Poet Laureate list was too long given it's a volunteer position. Added that anyone volunteering for the Poet Laureate is doing it because they have a love of poetry and want to serve the community.
- Commissioner Chokshi recommended that social media, marketing, and budgeting be removed from the Expectations of the Poet Laureate list and given to the Steering Committee. Added that the Poet Laureate can then focus on program planning, writing, and teaching.
- Commissioner Pan recommended removing budgeting, speaking, social media, recognition, appreciation, keeping writing, teaching, facilitating, and that planning and scheduling was redundant so keeping only one.
- Chair Zhao recommended removing budgeting, marketing, and social media.
- Recreation Manager James clarified that the Commission doesn't necessarily need a list, and that they could decide on qualifications that are broader – requiring someone who is passionate about poetry and has experience in facilitation of poetry events or programming.
- Commissioner Pan supported a broader approach that allows for flexibility.
- Commissioner Chokshi supported a broader approach and including teaching and facilitating.
- CPL O'Leary commented that the Cupertino Poet Laureate program has allowed each of the former Poet Laureates to do things that they are passionate about. Added it should be more about the person bringing poetry to Cupertino and celebrating creativity in Cupertino.
- Community Librarian Bao added that the Cupertino Library helps the Poet Laureate promote and create social media posts for programming and events.

Recreation Manager James noted that the Commission will discuss the Steering Committee and overall vision for the program including expectations of the Poet Laureate next time. Clarified that the goal is to finish all discussions in 2023 and bring a first draft in February 2024.

Background

In 2010, Ron Miller, Cupertino resident, poet, and poetry teacher was a member of the City Library Commission. As they considered programs for the year, Ron suggested Cupertino have a Poet Laureate. Other communities, such as Los Gatos, Saratoga, and San Jose, had recently instituted such a program, modeling in a less intense manner the county, state, and national Poets Laureate programs.

The Library Commission liked the idea and persuaded Ron to provide leadership to the initial effort. He formed a selection committee with members from The Friends of the Cupertino Library, the Cupertino Library Foundation, teachers, poets and others-8 in all, representing a cross-section of interests in the community and an ethnic balance reflective of Cupertino. (see addendum)

The Poet Laureate program was sanctioned by the Cupertino City Council through a Resolution read at the City Council meeting December 21, 2010. (see addendum)

History

The Poet Laureate Selection Committee met for several months mapping out a plan, learning more about poetry, gaining insights, and detailing the selection process. “Norming” was an important component of the initial training of the Selection Committee. Different forms of poetry were read by the committee members under the instruction of a poetry teacher. Committee members rated and discussed various attributes. This process helped the group see poetry through a more collective lens. (see addendum)

A Master Plan was developed to keep this volunteer committee on track. Through regular meetings and an active marketing effort, the first Poet Laureate was sought in the spring of 2011, the term to be from October 2011-October 2013. There were four qualified applicants. Dave Denny was recommended by the Selection Committee. He was then confirmed by recommendation to the Library Commission, endorsed by the City Staff liaison, and ratified by the City Council at its September 2011 Council Meeting.

The first term of the Cupertino Poet Laureate was successful as Dave was eager and willing to try new ideas and build on what had been successful in other neighboring programs. He was able to bond well with other Poets Laureate and engage several of them in various events and workshops. Keeping the program and events before Cupertino residents was a continual marketing challenge, as was coordinating schedules of the core volunteers from the Selection Committee who assumed various roles.

Readings at local coffee shops and houses seemed like a natural gathering spot. Dave had three. The crowds came and were too many to fit comfortably. The noise level of the coffee-making apparatus made hearing the scheduled poets and those for open mic very difficult. For outside venues, it became apparent that a portable sound system was needed, which became the first major purchase from what was a very lean budget.

From the beginning the Selection Committee believed it was important to include a representative from each of the sponsoring organizations, literature and poetry teachers, and past Poets Laureate as described in the sponsoring organization section. Minimal supplies were used the first couple of years. The City, The Friends and The Library Foundation each seeded the program with $500. The monies lasted.

The Selection Committee formed again toward the end of Dave's second year of service. He became a vital part of the second committee. Unfortunately, Ron Miller was unable to continue in a leadership role. We recruited several more members and lost some, but the core of the initial committee remained to begin the process of selecting the second Poet Laureate for Cupertino. (see addendum for names of committee members)

The selection process for the second term went much more smoothly, as we had committee members who had experienced the process before, and we had learned more effective means of getting out the word about the selection timing and process. Each Selection Committee had a Chair to organize and facilitate the plan. Dave had a wide network by this time as well, and a couple of them applied for the position. We had four valid applications and two who did not qualify.

Jennifer Swanton Brown was selected as the second Cupertino Poet Laureate. A competent writer and teacher, Jennifer also liked organizing her events and promoting them through the PL Blog and social media. Adrian Kolb, one of the initial committee members, continued through Jennifer's term to walk alongside her and support Jennifer as requested. Reporting to the funders surfaced as an important need to fill through this term. Adrian and Bev Lenihan assisted Jennifer to make sure this happened and that a more developed schedule of events was promotable in a timely manner. Jennifer enjoyed the public events and wrote specific poems for various City events and holidays.

A learning lesson from Jennifer's term was that more than one coordinator for the Poet Laureate might spread the workload and take advantage of the various strengths on the Selection Committee. So, three members organized the third selection process-Adrian Kolb (former Library Commissioner and The Friends of the Cupertino Library), Ann Stevenson (Library Commissioner), and Bev Lenihan (Cupertino Library Foundation Board Member).

The Selection Committee returned minus one member. A poet, also a teacher, was added to round out the committee. Monthly meetings were again held in the spring and summer of 2015 with both Poets Laureate attending when possible. More online promotion of the selection timeline and process occurred. And, the circle of potential Poets Laureate grew wider with Dave and Jennifer's assistance.

Five qualified applicants surfaced for the interview process, held the summer of 2015. Amanda Williamsen was selected to be the Poet Laureate for the term beginning January 1, 2016-December 31, 2018. She had the benefit of being selected with one quarter overlap with Jennifer. Though she had no official duties during this time, she could attend PL events and join Jennifer in reading on a couple of occasions. It helped her get up to speed on process, scheduling, and learning the names of the various constituent groups.

A private reception was held at the beginning of each Poet Laureate term to welcome the incoming PL, thank the outgoing PL, and to appreciate the sponsoring groups. This official launch offers further validation of the honor since this is primarily a pro-bono community benefit position. For the 2016-2018 term, the budget includes a $250 stipend sponsored by the Cupertino Library Foundation and payable at the beginning of each year for the Poet Laureate, Adrian Kolb, Bev Lenihan, and Ann Stevenson have accepted responsibility for managing the Poet Laureate program during the 2016-2017 term. Each brings unique strengths to the program as reflected in the collaboration in writing this Playbook.

The Selection Committee will again gather in spring of 2017 to begin the process for 2018-2019 Cupertino Poet Laureate. The goal is to bring on new leadership to the Selection Committee, using this Playbook as a guide for the process.

It is the responsibility of the Cupertino Poet Laureate to communicate on a regular basis with the Cupertino City Council, The Library Commission and the Friends of the Cupertino Library.

Frequency and type of updates on the poet laureate programs are arranged with each organization by mutual agreement.

Updates can be written reports, possibly quarterly. (see example as addendum) In addition, the Poet Laureate is encouraged to occasionally visit the monthly meetings held by the Library Commission, the Foundation and The Friends during his/her term. Normally, the CPL will be introduced at the beginning of the meeting, and will have a few minutes to describe his/her ideas, promote events, and answer questions, after which he or she can leave. The City Council appreciates an appearance and short oral update at one of their bi-monthly meetings, possibly twice a year.

Communication with supporting organizations and partners is key to the success of the Poet Laureate program. It is a mutually supportive relationship; their members support the program fiscally and logistically, and appreciate getting to know the CPL. They in turn spread the word about the Cupertino Poet Laureate program, and often attend events.

Budget

The budget approach has gotten more formalized over time and will continue to do so. Initially, it was hoped the program could be pretty much self-sustaining with the initial seed monies:

- City of Cupertino-$1000
- Cupertino Library Foundation-$500
- The Friends of the Cupertino Library-$500

The Parks & Recreation Department of the City houses the monies from the City and the original monies from the Cupertino Library Foundation. The Friends pay directly for materials and such through an approved process; an electronic or hard copy receipt is sent to the president of the Friends by a member of the Steering Committee. The president will arrange to have a check sent directly to the person receiving reimbursement. It is recommended that the funds from the Friends of The Cupertino Library be used first, as those do not roll over from year to year.

A quarterly review of the status of the funds with our partners and the current Poet Laureate is recommended.

A contributing factor for the need for a budget plan was the increasing awareness from the Poets Laureate that if they were not getting compensated for this honorary position, a stipend should be considered. The 2016-17 Poet Laureate, Amanda Williamsen, received a $250 stipend in the form of a check from the Cupertino Library Foundation (CLF) at their January 2016 Board meeting during which she gave a poetry reading. The same will occur in January 2017. These are additional monies budgeted by CLF.

In the 2016-2017 term, it was advised that invited past and current Poets Laureate readers to CPL events should also receive a modest stipend for their appearance and participation, subject to budget considerations.

A formalized spreadsheet was developed in February 2016, capturing income and expenses to date. It is managed by one of the three program coordinators and is available on Google Docs. (see addendum)

Steering Committee

It has become advisable to have a small steering committee coordinate the implementation of the Cupertino Poet Laureate plan and activities. The Poet Laureate Selection and Steering Committee will guide the CPL through his/her term. From selection through event planning, the media and all other details, these people are the Poet Laureate's "consultants." Ideally, a library commissioner liaison will be part of this committee, as the program is administered by the City through the Library Commission. Efforts will be made to have a representative of the Foundation and The Friends on the committee as well.

The responsibilities of the Steering Committee will change from time to time, depending largely on the skills and interests of each Poet Laureate. Generally, the Steering Committee will:

- Communicate the recommendation of the incoming Poet Laureate to the Library Commission, who in turn makes recommendations to the City and the City Council
- Facilitate the approval process with the incoming Poet Laureate, including background checks and fingerprinting
- Arrange for the presence of the Selection Committee and sponsoring partners to attend the City Council meeting where the Poet Laureate recommendation is ratified, and the new CPL is formally introduced to the Council and those attending that evening
- Facilitate the planning process with the incoming CPL.
- Organize the VIP Reception at the beginning of the CPL's term
- Facilitate the commitment of locations for various CPL events, workshops, readings, etc.
- Facilitate the promotion of the CPL activities
- Make introductions on behalf of the CPL
- Call the Selection Committee together in a timely manner to qualify and recommend the next CPL
- Ensure fiscal responsibility and accountability to the CPL partners and sponsors

Expectations of the Poet Laureate

Each succeeding Cupertino Poet Laureate brings a unique set of skills, attributes and interests to the position along with unique approaches to poetry. In general, it is preferred that the CPL come to the position with a willingness to do and experience in:

- Planning
- Budgeting, fiscal management
- Scheduling
- Writing
- Marketing
- Teaching, facilitating
- Speaking
- Social Media

- Recognition, appreciation

Selection Process

The goal is to solicit as many prospective Cupertino Poet Laureate candidates as possible from the breadth and depth of the City's demographic and psychographic poetic community. As awareness of and interest in the program grows, more poets are emerging and showing interest in considering this honorary position.

The term of office for the honorary position of Cupertino Poet Laureate is two years-January 1 through December 31st. The selection timeline allows for a three-month overlap so the incoming CPL can confer with the current CPL. This approach helps the new CPL start the term with active projects instead of going through a time of planning and budgeting.

The position is also a gateway to other Poets Laureate, other poetry venues and access to a national consortium of fellow poets. This aspect of the position is becoming increasingly appealing to the CPL.

Several distinct steps constitute the Cupertino Poet Laureate Selection Process. (See addendum for examples of forms used.)

The Selection Committee (SC)-prior committee members are invited back, including past Poets Laureate. An ideal number seems to be 7 with a cross-section of poets, teachers, marketing, community leaders, and past Poets Laureate. It is ideal to have about one third of the SC be new members each term.

The Timeline-is set by a master plan, done in a Word Table. The first SC meeting is usually calendared about 18 months from the beginning of a new CPL term. (see addendum)

The Promotion-the marketing elements from application through press releases are reviewed each term for their relevance and freshness, while maintaining the CPL "brand." Increasingly, getting the word out through eblasts, the CPL blog, Facebook and other social media are expanding the reach into the community. Posting flyers at the Library is a must, and some handout flyers are helpful. By far, the Cupertino Courier has been our best media outlet. (see examples in the addendum)

The Application Process-is marked by a form to be completed by the applicant, which details requirements and desirable attributes. It also requests sample writings. In past terms the applications were required to be turned in to the City Hall by 5pm on the due date. Increasingly, the SC will probably prefer to collect these applications through an email address that is linked to Google Docs, and available for viewing and comment by the SC. (see examples in the addendum)

The Candidate Review Process-historically, one or two members of the SC have done a quick review of the applications to determine if each candidate is viable-21 or over; living or working in Cupertino for at least two years; or with demonstrable ties to Cupertino, etc. Phone calls to clarify information sometimes occur. When the final group of candidates is established, the review criteria forms are used by the SC in a meeting to narrow the candidate pool. The scores from the criteria form are tabulated; specific aspects of an application may be discussed, and the SC decides on the final group to be interviewed. One member of the SC secures the room(s) for the interviews based on desired dates available of the majority of SC members; one SC member calls and books the candidate interviews. Final schedules are sent via email to the SC. A note of confirmation is sent by one SC member to each candidate who will be interviewed, and another SC member notifies and thanks those who will not be interviewed. (see addendum)

The Final Candidate Interviews-each in the final candidate pool is briefed on the questions they will be asked at the interview by an email sent from the SC and told they may read 1-2 poems during the 30 minute interview. As many SC members as possible attend these sessions, with each one being designated a question to ask the candidate. The ability to sense how the candidate handles a group dynamic, body language, composure, ease of being in a new setting—all of these factors (and others) assist in the determination of whether a candidate is not only a good poet, but will probably be a good spokesperson for the CPL program and teacher for various forms of poetry.

The Selections Committee Deliberations-as soon as possible after the completion of the interviews, the SC gathers to discuss the final candidates. A form is used for the SC to complete on each candidate for purposes of discussion (and record) at this meeting. Usually, there is a clear preference by the group. If not, the priorities of the program are again considered in the context of each final candidate. In the end, the SC all agree to support the final recommendation. At this point, one person from the SC is designated to call the preferred candidate and confirm their willingness to serve. A background check and fingerprinting is required and can be scheduled through the City to be done in an expeditious manner. Once the background check and fingerprinting is passed, letters are sent to the candidates who were not chosen.

The Recommendation of the Final Candidate to the Library Commission-As that step is being taken, a letter is written by the SC Library Commission liaison to the Library Commission naming the recommended candidate. This confidential letter is sent with the candidate's application and accompanying materials to the Library Commission for consideration at their August meeting.

The Recommendation by the Library Commission to the City-assuming all goes smoothly with the background check, and the Library Commission has no concerns, the head of Parks & Recreation forwards a note of endorsement and recommendation to the City Council, requesting a Proclamation be prepared, and time reserved, at their September Council meeting. The recommended candidate is present at the Council meeting as well as members of the SC, past and current CPLs, and Parks & Recreation representatives.

The Ratification by the City Council-mostly a formality at this point. A member of the Library Commission introduces the PL to the City Council; the PL is prepared to respond to questions from the council members and a vote is taken to approve the selection of the new PL. The Mayor introduces the Proclamation naming the new Poet Laureate, and then introduces the person formally to those gathered (also being taped). The SC presents the incoming PL with flowers, and there is a photo opportunity. The incoming PL usually reads a poem for the Council and those gathered.

The VIP Reception, Introducing the new Cupertino Poet Laureate-in January, there is a VIP Reception held late afternoon or evening where other key constituents get to formally meet the new PL. They get to tell more about themselves, their plans for the program, and read some of their poetry. Past CPLs get recognized, and reflect on their time as CPL. Refreshments are minimal, but celebratory. Usually about 40-75 attend.

Events

Types of events hosted by the Cupertino Poet Laureate (CPL) include:

- Poetry Readings (with or without guest readers and open mic)
- Workshops & Classes (either taught by the CPL or hosted with a guest teacher)
- Public Presentations (like reading at the Diwali Festival or the Lunar New Year Luncheon)
- Festival Booths (Library anniversary, Diwali Festival, Cherry Blossom Festival, Fall Festival, Book fair)
(see addendum)

Marketing

To optimize the awareness of the CPL program, its events and workshops, an integrated approach to marketing yields the optimum results. Elements of a sound marketing program are:

- Clear vision and mission
- Consistent identity and branding elements
- Consistent messaging
- Up-to-date and usable database
- Appropriate collateral
- Sound media and public relations
- Efficient distribution network
- Easy sign up and follow up
- Appropriate and consistent social media presence

While we have made great strides on all these fronts, we find the skill sets and preferences of each of the Poets Laureate seem to favor some approaches over others. Having the organizing team and the current CPL in sync helps for a consistency to the outside world.

Below are some of the marketing tools, and links to access pertinent information. More examples are offered as Addendums.

Database

Cupertino Poet Laureate Playbook

A database of stakeholders and constituent groups is held in a master excel spreadsheet, kept by the CPL program Steering Committee members. This tool contains the contact information for:

- Poets Laureate
- City Employees
- Sponsors
- Partners
- Influentials
- Media
- Event Attendees
- And miscellaneous target groups

This database (see addendum) is invaluable if it is kept current. The CPL program has had the fortunate benefit of a volunteer, Diane Bodwin who has maintained the database since the beginning.

It is expected that the CPL bring a body of personal and professional contacts to be added to the database.

These names and contact information are used appropriately to conduct the business of the CPL program and for marketing purposes, such as e-vites. It is proprietary and not to be used for any other purpose.

Commendations, Awards & Gifts

Recognition, accolades and stewardship are the hallmarks of a successful non-profit/volunteer community based program. The Cupertino Poet Laureate program has built in these elements from the beginning. Their manner of delivery may vary over time but attention to these details will continue to build value and a respect that will help maintain excellence in the program over time.

The Proclamation for the City of Cupertino, read when each new Poet Laureate is ratified by the City Council, signals their stamp of approval for the program and the selected Poet Laureate for the next term. This request should be made by one of the designated CPL program coordinators to the Parks & Recreation liaison at least six weeks before the City Council meeting where it is read and presented or as soon as the designated candidate has passed the fingerprinting and background check, whichever comes first.

Awards & Letters of Appreciation are presented to date in the following fashion:

- Certificates of Appreciation to out-going Poet Laureate-presented at VIP Reception for incoming CPL
- Annual letters to sponsoring organizations
- Thank you letters to all applicants to the CPL program

Gifts fall into these categories:

- Flowers for the outgoing and incoming CPL presented at the VIP Reception, early in the calendar year.
- A gift from the City to the outgoing CPL presented at the VIP Reception; it has been bookends, arranged for at least six weeks in advance by one of the CPL program coordinators
- A gift from the CPL program to the outgoing CPL; something personal or meaningful to the CPL; presented at the VIP Reception; arranged for by one of the CPL program coordinators.

FAQs

With a limited time & budget, how do you cover all the bases?

A: The incoming CPL and the Steering Committee plan together to optimize the interests of the CPL and the needs/interests of the community, working from a budget.

Does the Poet Laureate get paid?

A: The CPL receives a stipend. Currently, $250 a year is being paid each January by the Cupertino Library Foundation.

How long does the Poet Laureate serve?

A: The CPL serves a consecutive two-year term.

Does the Poet Laureate have to be a Cupertino resident?

A: A Cupertino resident is preferred to serve as CPL. However, if an otherwise qualified candidate works in Cupertino or has strong, demonstrable ties to Cupertino, the applicant is considered.

Who serves on the steering committee/selection committee and how long do they serve?

A: To date, the Steering Committee has been comprised of volunteers. They serve the same two-year term as the CPL.

What are the roles & responsibilities of the PL steering committee & how are they selected?

A: The CPL steering committee oversees the planning and implementation of the CPL plan. They assist in the coordination of locations, space, financial oversight, and marketing to supplement the CPL skills.

What's the selection process of the CPL?

A: The recommended CPL candidate proposal is forwarded to the Cupertino Library Commission. A background check and fingerprinting is conducted. If all is favorable, the candidate's name is forwarded to the City staff for approval. This name is then forwarded to the City Council for ratification at a September Council Meeting every two years.

Is there a PL budget and what are the funding sources?

A: There is a minimal budget, approximately $1500/year. These monies are generously granted by the City Parks & Rec. budget; The Friends of the Cupertino Library; and the Cupertino Library Foundation.

What kind of events does the Poet Laureate present & how often?

A: The number and kinds of events are determined by the priorities of the CPL program, and the interests and expertise of the current CPL. The frequency of events depends on the availability and circumstances of the current CPL. There are activities scheduled at least quarterly for the community to take part in and more often if possible. Public readings and events occur, many guided by the Cupertino City calendar and holidays.

Who decides what kind of programs are presented?

A: The CPL and the Steering Committee together agree about the kind of programs presented to fulfill the vision and mission of the Cupertino Poet Laureate program.

Cupertino Poet Laureate Hosts Readings April 1 at Peet's Coffee

Jennifer Swanton Brown and friends explore Unsung Holidays

Tuesday, April 1st, Cupertino Poet Laureate Jennifer Swanton Brown, will host poetry readings around the subject of Unsung Holidays, 7-9PM at Peet's Coffee, 20807 Stevens Creek Blvd., Suite 200, Cupertino. The public is invited to this no-charge event.

Brown will share the microphone with the winners of last fall's Cupertino Poetry Contest, Stephanie Pressman and Amanda Williamsen. A time for 'open mic' readers will occur toward the end of the evening. Space is limited, so arrive before 7 and enjoy Peet's coffee and snacks. The next readings will be in June and August, with the dates and locations to be announced in May.

"I am so encouraged by the interest in poetry in Cupertino," remarked Brown. "It seems all ages are eager to learn to write-and read-their own work, as well as that of the historical and contemporary poets."

In December 2010, the City Council of Cupertino unanimously adopted a resolution put forth by the Library Commission establishing the office of the Cupertino Poet Laureate. During the two years that the Cupertino Poet Laureate presides there are personal presentations and hosted educational events.

The Cupertino Poet Laureate program is co-sponsored by the City of Cupertino, the Library Commission, the Cupertino Library Foundation, and Friends of the Cupertino Library.

Readings

March 26. I'll read at Florey's in Pacifica with Jennifer Swanton Brown.

April 21. I'll read at the San Jose Art Museum as part of a project Arlene Biala, Santa Clara County's new Poet Laureate, has organized. Nine poets will write ekphrastic poetry and read at a special evening event.

April 28. I'll read with Jennifer Swanton Brown and Dave Denny at the Cupertino Library. This is the first reading I've set up.

June 3. Adrian Kolb had reserved time for me at the Euphrat Gallery at De Anza College, and I'm planning to invite Esther Kamkar and Maw Shein Win to read.

September 18. I'll read with Arlene Biala at the San Jose Poetry Festival, at the invitation of David Eisbach. We'll read on the steps of the Markham House after lunch when no other events are scheduled. David says we'll be specially featured. I plan to hold additional readings and invite a variety of Bay Area poets to read for Cupertino, including voices from a wide range of ages, heritages, and writing styles. I also plan to invite both well-established poets and emerging voices.

Poetry Parties

January 14 was my first Poetry Party, "Resolute Creativity." We wrote poems using our senses and associations with memory and scent. Also, we talked about strategies we can use to keep our creativity active through the year.

August 25. My second Poetry Party. Theme: Chocolate Poetry. This will be another really fun way to engage our senses to make our writing vivid. Participants will enjoy a light-hearted atmosphere that promotes camaraderie and pride in one's creations.

October 13. My third Poetry Party or a reading.

In 2017 on January 12, April 13, August 24, and October 12, I can hold additional Poetry Parties or readings in the Story Room at the library.

Poetry Memoir Class

February 26. Cast of Characters, Settings and Seasons.

March 11. Sensory Portraits and a Certain Slant of Light.

March 25. Ancestors, History, Recipes.

April 8. The Dream and the Child

April 22. Why We Wake Early: The Offices of Love.

In a fun and affirming atmosphere, participants can create a memoir with a collection of interrelated poems. We are writing about our memories, sharing our ideas if we choose, and encouraging one another. I'm presenting writing exercises inspired by a diverse offering of poems by writers who have also worked on a poetry memoir, or a memoir-like series of poems. The classes have had good attendance with fourteen writers at the first meeting and sixteen at the second. A few people have expressed interest in having more than the five classes

I've already planned, and I've contacted staff at the library to possibly find dates to extend the class in May and June. I'm really enjoying the opportunity to offer this class!

Contests

Spring 2016. I'm working with Irmgard Lafrantz of the Cupertino Rotary Club to organize its first Poetry Contest. Students in grades 6-8 in the Cupertino Union High School District and students in grades 9-12 in the Fremont Union High School District are eligible. There will be three prizes awarded for each age group: first prize is $100, second is $50, and third is $25. The deadline for entries is April 15. Irmgard is promoting the contest through her Rotary connections, and we've also reached out to staff in the high schools and junior highs to spread the word. I'll also publish this on the Cupertino Poet Laureate blog and Facebook. Winners will be celebrated at the Rotary Club Luncheon on June 15. Judges are myself, Jennifer Swanton Brown, and Dave Denny.

Spring 2016. With Larry Wray of the community choral group Schola Cantorum, I'm working on that group's first poetry contest. The winner will have his or her poem set to music. Dates for the judging are TBD. Judges are myself, David Perez (Santa Clara County's recent former Poet Laureate), and Erica Goss (Los Gatos' most recent Poet Laureate). Spring 2016. Serve on a panel of judges for a poetry contest organized by Belmont's Poet Laureate, Tanu Wakefield, and the Belmont Public Library.

Visiting Schools

April 2016, date TBD. Visit St. Stephen Lutheran School.

April 1, 2016. Visit Regnart Elementary School for Discovery Day to talk about a career as a writer and teacher.

I may also be able to visit Christa McAuliffe Elementary School, where my son is a student. I plan to reach out to the staff there.

Additional Community Involvement

December 28, 2015 Co-taught a workshop with Elizabeth Bartholomew at the Cupertino Library. Circuit Poetry. Children wrote poems, learned how to make a simple circuit on a paper card. Then they overlay the poems and illuminated their words.

January 27. I was honored to read “Stopping By Woods on a Snowy Evening” by Robert Frost at Mayor Barry Chang’s State of the City address. Jennifer Swanton Brown and Dave Denny also read poems.

February 12. I composed a poem for the occasion of the Lunar New Year and read it at the AABC’s Lunar New Year Luncheon. It went well.

Fall, 2016. I hope to participate in Cupertino’s Divali Festival, as I did last fall with J. S.

Brown

The class developed an amazing atmosphere of friendly respect and encouragement, which made it a safe place for writers to share meaningful, sometimes emotionally powerful, memories. We had 27 participants. Each week, 16-20 participants showed up. Many people attended 5, 6, or 7 of the classes.

Originally, we planned for five classes, but the participants asked for more time, and we were able to schedule an additional two meetings at the Environmental Education Center at McClellan Ranch Preserve. I had planned to continue the class in the fall, but sadly, I can't continue! Ann Muto would like to extend the class in the fall with her own style of leadership. We are having a Poetry and Pancakes brunch at IHOP on June 3 to reaffirm our connections, celebrate our accomplishments, and joyfully pass the baton to Ann.

Addendum #18 List of annual Cupertino Poet Laureate events and festivals

Annual Poet Laureate Events & Festivals

List of Cupertino Events & Festivals

See the City website at <http://cupertino.org/index.aspx?page=94>

In collaboration with the Poet Laureate Steering Committee, the Poet Laureate can decide the events in which to participate. The events in the chart below are listed in chronological order by date.

The Poet Laureate should plan to bring business cards issued by the City and, if participating in a booth, invite people to sign up with their name and email for email invitations to Poet Laureate events.

If the Poet Laureate wants to have a booth, he/she should check with the Cupertino Librarian to see whether they will have a booth as they are usually willing to share at no additional cost to the Poet Laureate Program. It is essential that the Poet Laureate be very clear about guidelines from the library in sharing a booth and be prepared to bring all the necessary supplies.

Jennifer Swanton Brown's notes re: festivals

Festivals are really a very different kind of event, where you are not the main attraction (unless you're also reading at some point) but sit in a booth. Always try to have a friend. Festivals are long and exhausting, make sure you can take a break and walk around and eat. Many of the same considerations apply, but also these unique issues:

- Weather, hot or cold, hat or sweater, good shoes.
- Tables? Provided or bring your own?
- Canopy? Provided or bring your own?
- Chairs – enough.
- Table cloths, decorations, signs?
- Things will blow around. Count on it.
- Books? To show or are you selling?
- Flyers or brochures for upcoming events? Business cards?
- Activities? Magnetic poetry, poetry or word games, etc.

Lunar New Year Luncheon and Diwali Festivals sponsored by the Asian American Business Council of the Cupertino Chamber of Commerce <http://cupertino-chamber.org/>

During 2016/17 Poet Laureate term Ann Stevenson will remain the contact for the Chamber—Ann Stevenson—c.—408-655-4668 annl Stevenson@comcast.net. Below are listed the guidelines & contacts for the partnership the Poet Laureate Program has developed with the Chamber of Commerce. These two events are planned and executed by the members of the Asian American Business Council of the Cupertino Chamber of Commerce.

Partnership between the Poet Laureate Program and the Chamber of Commerce

This partnership was developed during Jennifer Swanton Brown's term and has been a very supportive, congenial one. Participating in these events is an excellent way for the Poet Laureate to meet community leaders and members and broaden exposure of the PL program in Cupertino.

Person responsible for this partnership

The ideal liaison would be a member of the Poet Laureate Steering Committee and a Chamber member and/or a member of the Asian American Business Council. If that is not the case, someone from the Poet Laureate Steering Committee needs to contact the Chamber CEO to let that individual know that the Poet Laureate would like to participate in these 2 events. This should be initiated before the July AABC meeting for the Diwali Festival in October and before the October AABC meeting for the Lunar New Year Luncheon in either late January or early February to ensure that the Poet Laureate is included in the printed program. That person can also offer to introduce the PL at the luncheon unless the AABC wants someone from the AABC to do that.

Contact

Chief Executive Officer: Anjali Kausar, who also serves on the Cupertino Union School Board.

Address: 20455 Silverado Ave, Cupertino, CA 95014

Phone: (408) 252-7054 (anjali@cupertino-chamber.org)

These two annual events are sponsored by the Asian American Business Council of the Chamber of Commerce which meets at the Chamber office from noon-1 the 2nd Tuesday of the month. If the Poet Laureate wants to visit a meeting, that individual needs to let the CEO of the Chamber know no later than the Friday before the meeting as lunch is provided by the Chamber. There are usually @10-15 people there. The Poet Laureate might consider attending a meeting before the Lunar New Year Luncheon & the Diwali Festival. That way, members could meet him/her and he/she could meet them and, if desired, can gather information and ideas for the poem to compose and read to honor both of these events. Amanda Williamsen did an excellent job of attending an AABC meeting, soliciting written input from the group about what the Lunar New Year means to them and then composing her poem from their ideas.

- The Lunar New Year Luncheon is held annually at the Dynasty Restaurant, usually in February. It has continued for over 10 years & attracts between 250-300 community leaders and residents. The AABC invites the Poet Laureate to be part of the program by composing and reading a poem for the event. At the November meeting an AABC member or the CEO of the Chamber should bring up for discussion and approval an invitation for the Poet Laureate to compose & read a poem at the Lunar New Year luncheon. If desired, the Poet Laureate can arrange to visit the AABC meeting the month prior to the luncheon in order to meet the members of the Council, learn more about the event and gather ideas for the poem. The luncheon ticket for the PL is complimentary from the Chamber; however, it is important to confirm that this will be the case. It is helpful for the contact from the PL Steering Committee to purchase a ticket & accompany the PL or arrange for someone from the AABC to act as host for and introduce the PL during the luncheon program.
- Please be aware that, unfortunately, the people at the Lunar New Year Luncheon are usually visiting during the program so getting and holding their attention is challenging. Amanda very effectively ended each poetry stanza with a refrain, which she invited the audience to repeat, which helped keep their attention.
- The Diwali Festival in October is also sponsored by the Asian American Business Council of the Chamber of Commerce and attracts 10,000+ people. The Poet Laureate is invited to compose and read a poem for the event at the VIP program, which is another excellent opportunity for visibility. The VIP event usually begins @11:30. The CEO of the Chamber is the contact to schedule a presentation by the Poet Laureate.
- The Poet Laureate may share the library booth at the festival by scheduling with the Cupertino Community Librarian by making arrangements at least 4-6 weeks in advance. Getting the audience's attention at the VIP program is probably equally challenging, and there will be conversations from the crowds who aren't attending the VIP event as the program is held outside on the Memorial Park grounds.
- Other options for getting to know the community include the monthly Chamber of Commerce networking meetings. There is a large crossover of membership between the Chamber of Commerce & Rotary and both are excellent opportunities to meet community leaders; although the Poet Laureate can visit both, the decision can also be made based on what is more convenient to the PL's schedule. However, if the PL would like to attend any of the events listed below, please contact the Chamber and let the CEO know you would like to attend. It is also possible to go to this link, look at the calendar of events & make a reservation to attend either the monthly networking event and/or the quarterly coffee. <http://cupertino-chamber.org/event-calendar/#cid=233&wid=501> Click on the event you wish to attend & make a reservation. As the Library Foundation is a Chamber member, there should not be a charge to attend the mixers or the quarterly coffee. It would be a good idea to check this out with the CEO of the Chamber. There is no charge to attend the AABC meetings.
- The Chamber networking events are held the 2nd Wednesday from 5:30-7:00 p.m. at various locations. If the Poet Laureate knows a Chamber member, it would probably be more comfortable to arrange to meet that individual there so the PL can be hosted by someone, although it is not necessary.
- The Chamber also holds a quarterly coffee at various locations from 8:00-9:00 a.m. and feature a guest speaker. These are usually smaller events of @20-25 people so it's a bit easier to get acquainted with others.

Cherry Blossom Festival

https://www.festivalproductions2.com/event/91/2016_Cupertino_Cherry_Blossom_Festival.html

Jennifer Swanton Brown's Notes: The Cherry Blossom Festival was something that Adrian helped me set up I think -- we communicated directly with someone at the Cupertino Sister City organization -- I don't remember her name, but I think Adrian and/or I just sent an email to the address on the city website. <http://www.cupertinotoyokawa.org/> I asked David Perez and Erica Goss to join me, which they did part of the day, and we set up tables and chairs and put out the typewriter, books we had brought about Japanese poetry, the magnetic poems. I did all the set up and tear down myself. There are photos from the day and other information on the blog.

Earth Day

Dave Denny read a poem there. Jennifer observed that people don't really pay attention even with a sound system. If the PL wants to participate, it is probably best to see whether the library is having a booth and share it with the library and decide on some kind of interactive program.

Fall Festival

Jennifer Swanton Brown's Notes--Fall Festival was something Bev and I worked out -- I offered to read a poem, and she took care of working that all out with the Rotary Club. It's their event at Memorial Park. Once Bev put me in touch with whomever was organizing the event, I communicated with her about when to arrive at the park, etc. I went and read a poem myself in 2014 at the opening ceremony, but for 2015, I was out of town. Bev was going to read the poem I wrote, and then she had to travel and Amanda was going to read it, but I think it fell apart and nobody did read in 2015 at the opening ceremony. I think Crystal Tai read her own poem at the closing ceremony in 2015.

Fall Art Series

Jennifer Swanton Brown's Notes-- I don't remember anything about the Fall Art Series -- unless you mean when I was asked to come and talk a little bit about Julius Caesar before the Shakespeare company performed in the community hall. If that's the case, then Bev or Adrian should remember -- that was in the first month after I became PL - I think Bev arranged it somehow. It was something Dave Denny had done the year before. I was not asked again in subsequent years.

Addendum #19 Poet Laureate venues, room scheduling and EEC policies

2016 General Guidelines

- It is challenging to find appropriate, available venues at no charge for Poet Laureate events. This information is based on what has been historically available.
- The majority of these rooms must be scheduled at least 1 year in advance as they are heavily used.
- It is important to check with the people in charge regarding expectations for set up & take down.
- The Poet Laureate is to provide all supplies.
- It has worked out well for one person on the steering committee to be designated to schedule rooms for the PL events as the PL has a lot to do in planning events.
- A member of the Library Commission or someone with close ties to the City who knows the City staff is an ideal choice for this role.
- Obtaining a written policy of the Facilities Policy for each space used is recommended prior to holding a program there. This should be shared with the Poet Laureate & the Steering Committee.
- Liability is usually waived by the Community Librarian and the City Parks & Recreation Director.

Library Story Room

- Scheduling quarterly Poet Laureate Events for Thursday evenings in the Library Story Room from 6-9 in January, April, August & October at least 1 year ahead with the Cupertino Librarian is highly recommended. It is possible to revise them later if there is a conflict.
- The current Cupertino Librarian is the contact and can advise which days & times are most readily available depending on the library's numerous programs for all ages.
- The PL Steering Committee has been advised in the past that Friday's are the most challenging for the library staff to assist with set-up, because 1/2 the staff is available for that day.
- M-Th mornings are usually available as story hours have been moved to the children's section of the library, because the library story room is too small.
- Although the story room is available during those times, the Poet Laureate would probably have kids looking in and commotion outside at times.
- Starting in 2016 Amanda Williamsen offered 6 stand-alone Poetry Memoir Writing Classes every other week, which were held in the Library Story Room.

Protocols for room use

- It would be wise for the Poet Laureate to check out the times of the children's programs, meet with the staff contact for the Story Room, spend some time in the story room during the children's programs and see how it is.
- PL must provide all supplies and a computer.
- The library staff is not available for last-minute supply needs.
- It is strongly recommended that an email be sent to the Cupertino Librarian at least 4-6 weeks prior to the start date of the class/reading with a diagram of the desired room set up (theater style with rows of chairs, chairs in a circle or tables & chairs) and to check availability and compatibility of any additional AV equipment needed.

Reception Room at the Cupertino Senior Center for the VIP event in January of the first year of the new Poet Laureate's term

- The Reception Room at the Senior Center is ideal for the VIP reception held the 1st Thursday in January in even numbered years.
- It holds 175-200 people; however, it can be divided to accommodate a smaller group.
- Reserving the room from 6-9 allows for set up & clean up. It is important to verify that there will be someone there at that time who can turn on & set up the mic.
- The current contact is Christine Hanel, who is Acting Director for Park & Rec for the City. ChristineH@cupertino.org
- Senior Center contact Lisa Atwood LisaA@cupertino.org
- If the VIP event is held on the first Thursday in January from 7-8:30 or 9:00, it is not possible to schedule Community Hall, because the Park & Rec Commission meets there monthly on the first Thursday.

Evites

VIP evite emails should be sent to: CLF and Advisory Board, City Council, selected library staff, The Friends of Cupertino Library, past poet laureates, past and present selection committee members, City Council members, Christine Hanel, Acting Director of Parks & Recreation, and/or other city liaisons, City Manager, Community Librarians, SCC Librarian i.e. currently Nancy Howe, Library Commissioners, Chamber Board and CEO, selected Rotary members, and past and recent candidates who applied for the current PL position.

Script

It is advisable to create a program schedule for after people arrive and mingle:

1. Member of Steering Committee opens, welcomes all and acknowledges dignitaries and groups present, background of PL program.
2. Mayor or Councilmember speaks briefly to introduce the program.
3. Farewell speech by member of Steering Committee to outgoing laureate, gifts given.
4. Outgoing laureate speaks and introduces new laureate, gives gifts and trophy.
5. Closing remarks by member of Steering Committee.

Equipment—Podium, mic, 2 long tables

Supplies--Small paper plates, napkins, 2 paper table cloths, 1 large bag of Kirkland Asian Rice Crackers with Nuts, 1 package Baklava, 8 oz. water bottles (20 used in 2016), 1 box cookies & 2 small packages TJ's chocolate cookies topped with peppermint, 2 floral plants (we used Poinsettias from the holidays)

Gifts

- Set of bookends to the outgoing Poet Laureate from the City of Cupertino; the Director of Parks & Recreation is the contact person to order them; check by early November.
- Poet Laureate trophy with PL's name on it to the incoming PL. Please obtain from the previous Poet Laureate in time to engrave the new PL's name on it.
- Floral bouquet, when appropriate, for each of the Poet Laureates.

Cupertino Poet Laureate Playbook

- $200 gift card to a Cupertino restaurant to the outgoing Poet Laureate.
- In 2016 Bev Lenihan presented each of the Poet Laureates with a photo book of libraries across the nation from the Library Foundation.

Room Set Up

- Reception Room at the Senior Center—1/2 closed off
- 1 long table with chair in the lounge area directly outside the Reception Room for sign in
- 1 long table in the room at the back for refreshments
- 40-50 chairs set up theater style with center aisle
- Small table for the gifts for the outgoing Poet Laureate + a floral bouquet each for the outgoing Poet Laureate and the incoming PL, and a podium & mic.

Euphrat Art Museum on the De Anza College Campus

Scheduling

- If the PL is not familiar with the space, he/she can stop in there to view it and decide about scheduling an event there.
- The designated member of the PL steering committee should get in touch with the contact person within the first month of the first year of the new PL term.
- The museum is on the same schedule as the school term, so scheduling for January-June could be discussed as the last exhibit ends the first week of June.
- It is an unknown whether the museum director will know the exhibit schedule for the fall, but if so, it is possible to go ahead and schedule time for the fall.
- It is important to get in there while an exhibit is up during the school year and in between any groups they have using the room, which in past experience has only been about 2 times a month.
- Attendees must be informed that only paid parking requiring coins is available on De Anza Campus.
- The Euphrat Director emailed a pdf with complimentary parking permits for the PL Steering Committee, the Poet Laureate & Guest Poets.

Poet Laureate Responsibilities

- The laureate selects a theme, secures guest readers and decides if open mic.
- The laureate creates the agenda and marketing materials, including content for the press release for Courier, Scene and other publications. This content is then sent to the Selection Committee member in charge of PR.
- The laureate sends evites, and any special email invitations.
- The laureate purchases gifts or gift cards for guest readers.
- The laureate provides all supplies.
- Materials for evening: easel with PL poster, clipboard for sign in with name & email, second clipboard for open mic sign in. If applicable, flyers for next event.
- The Poet Laureate invites the guests to like the program on Facebook.
- The Poet Laureate acknowledges and thanks the PL sponsors at the beginning of each program. They are the following: the City of Cupertino, The Friends of the Cupertino Library, The Cupertino Library Foundation and the Cupertino Library Commission.

Additional Venue Options

Cupertino Poet Laureate Playbook

The following have been tried with less than optimal results as described below:

1. Coffee shops – tend to be noisy and small. It is necessary to bring CPL audio equip. Food for purchase, parking free. Can be a very fun atmosphere but very difficult to hear.
 - a. Peet's Coffee, 20807 Stevens Creek Blvd., Suite 200 Cupertino, CA 95014, (408) 213-1870
 - b. Bitter & Sweet (<http://bitter-sweet.com/>) 20560 Town Center Ln, Cupertino, CA 95014
2. Open air – Dave did his “First Words” event in the plaza in front of Cupertino Library, as well as a reading during the city’s Earth Day celebration. Tends to be very noisy and even with the sound system – use CPL audio equip -- many people can’t hear.
3. Restaurants – Jennifer did a Persian New Year reading at Village Falafel on Stevens Creek Blvd. in a private room. Small tables & chairs can create an intimate atmosphere; however, number of attendees is limited. Food for purchase.

Chart Listing Venues

The chart below lists additional Poet Laureate venues in Cupertino. The Steering Committee received feedback that holding PL events in coffee houses doesn’t work, because of the noise of the coffee preparation equipment and the fact there are no separate rooms.

Frequently Asked Questions

Question: What is a certificate of liability insurance?

Answer: It is an insurance policy designed to provide protection in which an event holder must defend themselves against lawsuits or pay damages for bodily injury or property damage to a third party. This policy also gives protection to the venue of the event by adding them to the policy as an Additional insured. Examples, such as a slipping and falling, or damaged floors are covered by this type of policy.

Question: I've been asked to list my facility as an Additional Insured? What does this mean?

Answer: This simply means that the venue is asking you to add them to the required liability insurance policy as an insured.

The practice of adding a facility as an Additional Insured on a General Liability insurance policy is quite common. Make sure to tell your insurance agent that you need this endorsement before they give you the Certificate of Insurance.

Question: Where can I find an insurance provider?

Answer: You can check with your homeowner's insurance carrier, or search online. There are many online insurance companies that can help you with this service. Search for "Certificate of Liability Insurance for Event" to research all your options. The City of Cupertino does not sell insurance.

Question: Do insurance companies charge for this service?

Answer: It depends on your insurance provider. Your insurance agent will be able to help you with the fees, if applicable.

Question: I'm only serving coffee at my event. Do I really need to provide insurance?

Answer: No, the City of Cupertino only requires insurance for any events that serve alcohol.
