Hello Liang,

This photo cause you anxiety?

The person in the light blue jacket crossing between the two cars gets me. Jeesh!

You don't have to be in an urban setting to understand how pedestrians complicate things.

Which is why you're invited to see how a brand-new technology is solving this problem. Pedestrians vs. Traffic Flow.

Watch now

My traffic engineer friend, Bruce, had a nightmare corridor. Part of the problem? A few of the intersections had constant pedestrian needs.

Bruce harnessed this new tech to solve the problem in minutes, not months.
