| AVAILABILITY OFHOUSING | Strategy HE-1.3.1       | Land Use Policy and Zoning Provisions | To accommodate the Regional Housing Needs Allocation (RHNA), the City will continue to: *Provide adequate capacity through the Land Use Element and Zoning Ordinance to accommodate the RHNA of 1,064 units while maintaining a balanced land use plan that offers opportunities for employment growth, commercial/retail activities, services and amenities. *Monitor development standards to ensure they are adequate and appropriate to facilitate a range of housing in the community. *Monitor the sites inventory and make it available on the City website. Monitor development activity on the Housing Opportunity Sites to ensure that the City maintains sufficient land to accommodate the RHNA during the planning period. In the event a housing site listed in the Housing Element sites inventory is redeveloped with a non–residential use or at a lower density than shown in the Housing Element sites inventory, ensure that the City has adequate capacity to meet the RHNA by making the findings required by Government Code Section 65863 and identifying alternative site(s) within the City if needed.  Priority Housing Sites: As part of the Housing Element update, the City has identified five priority sites under Scenario A (see Table HE–5) for residential development over the next eight years. The General Plan and zoning designations allow the densities shown in Table HE–5 for all sites except the Vallco Shopping District will involve significant planning and community input. A specific plan will be required to implement a comprehensive strategy for a retail/office/residential mixed use development. The project applicant would be required to work closely with the community and the City to bring forth a specific plan that meets the community’s needs, with the anticipated adoption and rezoning to occur within three years of the adoption of the 2014–2022Housing Element (by May 31, 2018). The specific plan would permit 389 units by right at a minimum density of 20 units per acre. If the specific plan and rezoning are not adopted within three years of Housing Element adoption (by May 31, 2018), the City will schedule hearings consistent with Govt. Code Section 65863 to consider removing Vallco as a priority housing site under Scenario A, to be replaced by sites identified in Scenario B (see detailed discussion and sites listing of “Scenario B” in Appendix B – Housing Element Technical Appendix). As part of the adoption of Scenario B, the City intends to add two additional sites to the inventory: Glenbrook Apartments and Homestead Lanes, along with increased number of permitted units on The Hamptons and The Oaks sites. Applicable zoning is in place for Glenbrook Apartments and Homestead Lanes site would need to be rezoned at that time to permit residential uses. Any rezoning required will allow residential uses by right at a minimum density of 20 units per acre. | Community Development – Planning and Housing | None Required        | IM        | Action completed                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

| HOUSINGAFFORDABILITY | Strategy HE-2.3.1   | Office and IndustrialHousing MitigationProgram | The City will continue to implement the Office and Industrial Housing Mitigation Program. This program requires that developers of office, commercial and industrial space pay a mitigation fee, which will then be used to support affordable housing in the City of Cupertino. These mitigation fees are collected and deposited in the City’s Below Market–Rate Affordable Housing Fund (BMR AHF).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | CommunityDevelopment – Planningand Housing | BMR AHF              | IM        | Housing Mitigation Manual and BMR Fee updated in May 2020, including new 20% inclusionary requirement for ownership units in projects over 7 units. |
| HOUSINGAFFORDABILITY | Strategy HE-2.3.2   | Residential HousingMitigation Program              | The City will continue to implement the Residential Housing Mitigation Program to mitigate the need for affordable housing created by new market–rate residential development. This program applies to new residential development. Mitigation includes either the payment of the “Housing Mitigation” fee or the provision of a Below Market–Rate (BMR) unit or units. Projects of seven or more for–sale units must provide on–site BMR units. Projects of six units or fewer for–sale units can either build one BMR unit or pay the Housing Mitigation fee. Developers of market–rate rental units, where the units cannot be sold individually, must pay the Housing Mitigation fee to the BMR AHF. The BMR program specifies the following: a. Priority. To the extent permitted by law, priority for occupancy is given to Cupertino residents, Cupertino full–time employees, and Cupertino public service employees as defined in Cupertino’s Residential Housing Mitigation Manual. b. For–Sale Residential Developments. Require 15% for–sale BMR units in all residential developments where the units can be sold individually (including single–family homes, common interest developments, and condominium conversions or allow rental BMR units as allowed in (d) below). c. Rental Residential Developments. To the extent permitted by law, require 15% rental very low and low–income BMR units in all rental residential developments. If the City is not permitted by law to require BMR units in rental residential developments, require payment of the Housing Mitigation Fee. d. Rental Alternative. Allow rental BMR units in for–sale residential developments, and allow developers of market–rate rental developments to provide on–site rental BMR units. If the developer: 1) enters into an agreement limiting rents in exchange for a financial contribution or a type of assistance specified in density bonus law (which includes a variety of regulatory relief); and 2) provides very low–income and low–income BMR rental units. e. Affordable Prices and Rents. Establish guidelines for affordable sales prices and affordable rents for new affordable housing and update the guidelines each year as new income guidelines are received. f. Development of BMR Units Off Site. Allow developers to meet all or a portion of their BMR or Housing Mitigation fee requirement by making land available for the City or a nonprofit housing developer to construct affordable housing, or allow developers to construct the required BMR units off site, in partnership with a nonprofit. The criteria for land donation or off–site BMR units (or combination of the two options) will be identified in the Residential Housing Mitigation Manual. g. BMR Term. Require BMR units to remain affordable for a minimum of 99 years; and enforce the City’s first right of refusal for BMR units and other means to ensure that BMR units remain affordable. | CommunityDevelopment – Planningand Housing | BMR AHF              |           | Add people with special needs, as a bonus point?                                                                                                    |

The City will continue to monitor its entire portfolio of affordable housing for–sale and rental inventory annually. The City will monitor its affordable for–sale inventory by ordering title company lot books, reviewing property profile reports and updating its public database annually. The City's demonstration garden at City Hall is an educational resource for citizens interested in providing natural and drought-resistant landscaping for their own property. The garden also saves the City significant water and maintenance expense. Sustainability division staff also promotes regional incentive programs to remove turf and replace with native landscaped alternatives. A ribbon cutting was hosted at City Hall for this demonstration garden in August 2019, and the City Staff created an online portal to increase the educational value of this resource. cupertino.org/demogarden |
