CHILDREN'S PROGRAMS

November was a busy month in the Children's Room at Cupertino Library. Children from 1st – 7th grade came together to read aloud from C.S. Lewis's The Chronicles of Narnia and create their own Narnia-inspired worlds during our Mason Jar Terrarium craft. Diligent detectives descended upon a fairytale inspired-crime scene and solved the mystery using math, decoding, and logic during our Fairytale Mystery at the Library. Finally, Family Game Day saw over 100 family members compete in Bingo, board games and a miniature golf course that encompassed the whole Children's Room! We thank the Friends of the Cupertino Library for their generous support of our programs.

ADULT & TEEN PROGRAMS

Cupertino Poet Laureate Kaecey McCormick finished her autumn “Lunchtime Language Artists” series in mid-November with 17 attendees. The Start Your Small Business series with SCORE also ended in November, with an average attendance of 12 people at each session. We offered two health programs in early November which both attracted about 25 people. One was on diabetes prevention and the other was a Medicare Q&A. The annual performance by Firebird Youth Chinese Orchestra attracted a large crowd of 124 people to enjoy their traditional Chinese folk music.

Girls Who Code continues to be a very popular teen program. This year's cohort is busy learning to use Python. This group of 20 teens meets weekly every Thursday night – a huge commitment from busy teens. We also offered a financial literacy program geared to teens; attendees said they found the information valuable. Synocate also presented a workshop on Building Your Extracurricular Resume, with 15 attendees.

NOVEMBER 2018 LIBRARY OUTREACH

	2018	2017

Undaunted by the changeable weather, we took Cupertino Library's Go Go Biblio to Small Business Saturday on November 24. This was our first event at Main St. Cupertino, attracting about 30 people. We have created a partnership with Main St., and plan to visit once a month at lunchtime to offer library services. Our first lunchtime visit to Main St. will be on December 20, weather permitting. We continue workshops at the Senior Center; this month tutorials on our online newspaper resources and Flipster, the eMagazine resource, were offered. Children's librarians presented storytime at local preschools, as well as our popular pop-up library at Sedgwick Elementary. Regnart Elementary faculty also received a presentation on library resources.
