576	Driving there is too much of a hassle.	11/13/2015 9:02 PM
577	I do not really know where it is and what it is for. For walking I choose 0-1 mile actually 2 miles its OK too. But if it it's longer than 3 mile I'm more not willing to go since I have to carry my backpack sometime textbook all that long it's little tiring. I do not bike so it does not apply to me.for driving it would be great if it is 3 miles and less since it is not to far and my mom more willing to let me go. I prefer it's near the shopping area or the park it just better if there are cafe or store or restaurant since teens when studying like to drink coffee or milk tea and other drinks.	11/13/2015 8:32 PM

332	Although I have numbered the options 1-4, I would actually like to give them all a 0. Cupertino does not need to be spending money relocating a teen center that nobody goes to. On top of that, our "amazing" city council wants to spend millions on upgrading their office. How about we spend money building more schools because right now my high school is overpopulated.	11/14/2015 3:00 PM

363	Maybe in the new ridiculous mall that they have dreamed of building but never will be built because they don't have enough money and look at Main Street! It's ugly and there is no senior center or trees. Where are the stores? There s few but not as many as they promised! There's a ton of ugly condos instead. We could've built a teen spot there but nope! There's condos. The promised that it'd look something like Santana Row but I don't see none Main Street. It's horrible. The whole thing. Someone should burn it down. We should build the new Teen Center in Valco cause why not. They most definitely won't have a garden on top of the roof. It's too much water, money, and the whole construction would be so ugly.	11/12/2015 11:15 PM
