The Commission reviewed the status of the 2019/2020 Work Program and then created a draft proposal for the 2020-21 City Work Program with 10 items noting their top three. The top three projects/tasks were the all-inclusive playground, dog off leash areas and summer events. The remaining projects/tasks on the list were the status of trails, historical preservation (McClellan Ranch), teen wellness programs, collaboration with other commissions, senior programs, the parks and recreation marketing plan, and the parks and recreation strategic plan (Rancho Rinconada, Lawrence Mitty Park, Memorial Park, Stevens Creek Corridor, Park Equity, Blackberry Farm Golf Course). A footnote was added to the document that notes items already in progress, such as the community gardens and athletic field review were not explicitly listed, as the Commission expects them to continue to be executed until they are completed. The draft Parks and Recreation Commission Proposals for FY 2020-21 City Work Program will be brought back as an agenda item at the February 6th meeting for approval to be sent to Council.
